M.Tech. Project:

- 1) Project title: Detection of Compromised Nodes and Recovery in Wireless Sensor Network

Guide: Prof. Sukumar Nandi and Dr. Kalpesh Kapoor

Project outline: Wireless sensor network has to change according to change in the requirements. So we have a special feature of In-Network Programming to do Over-The-Air Network Programming. Programming of network means changing the running code of wireless sensor nodes which are deployed in the application field. But many security issues will come in picture. We have to add all these features with keeping in mind about the limited resources of wireless sensor nodes. So this will detect compromised nodes and recover by replacing the correct code in nodes.

B.E. Project:

- 1) Major Project title: CRM Using Data Mining

Project outline: The project is to exploring Customer-Relationship Management of a company. And this application will give some patterns which are helpful to increase their sales. In our case Lotus Pvt Ltd, Indore is company and we had 20K records of sales of few products. Our aim is to understand customer-relationship by using Data Mining Algorithms. And algorithms are implemented by making use of Java.

- 2) Minor Project title: Online Examination

Project outline: In this project we have developed software for conducting online examination like GRE. And student will get new questions as per there past performance of question attended. Result of this examination will come as the examination will over. Thus result calculation will go as question will come.

Training Project:

1) Project title: Web Enabled & Auto-Mailing Software

Organization: Centre for Advanced Technology (CAT, Indore)

Project outline: This is a training project and it is used by “INDUS-I” of “Centre for Advanced Technology (CAT, Indore)”. INDUS is a very big project and are divided in many section. If any fault comes then people will log them to database. Auto-Mailing System will send mails to all the concern person of that section at predefined time every day or weekly. Web support is also given if Auto-Mailing System of off or not working properly. This system uses data transformation capabilities of Microsoft SQL Server 2000.
